

Training course for endoscopic full-thickness resection using the FTRD System

Liverpool John Moore's University,
Liverpool John Moore's University School of Health, 81 Tithebarn St, Liverpool L2 2ER

Monday April 29th 2024
(10:00am-3:00pm)

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The key objective of this one-day course is to enable centres to offer endoscopic Full Thickness Resection (eFTR) procedures, formerly only carried out by surgery. Training will include clinical considerations in patient selection and post procedure care along with ample opportunity for 'hands on' practice with porcine models. Existing UK centres will also share their experiences with the introduction of this new procedure and their first patients.

Continuing Professional and Personal Development (CPD) accredited.

Training offered by our certified FTRD trainer
